Wisdom and Knowledge

In 2 Chronicles 1:10, Solomon asked God to give him wisdom and knowledge that he might go out and in before this people—that he might judge wisely. Because of what Solomon asked, God granted his request and so much more. Psalm 119:66 states "Teach me good discernment and knowledge, For I believe in Your commandments."

These are just two short verses about wisdom and knowledge. There is much more in the scriptures linking these two subjects together. And yet we know that we can practice one of these without the other. Just as Solomon was granted both, he did not always use wisdom in dealing with his people. In some cases, he actually went against what God had told him.

While studying God's word about wisdom and knowledge and the history of God's people, it is so easy to pass judgement that they were not obedient. While thousands of years later and with all the written history that we have, we are still doing the same thing Solomon did. Even though we have access to all this wisdom and knowledge, we disregard God's word or turn it to serve our own purpose. Considering this subject, I sometimes feel like Paul that I am the chief of sinners. I pray that we as Christians studying the scriptures not only seek knowledge, but to use that knowledge wisely. And that we always look to our Savior and His word for answers and do not lean on our own understanding.

In Christian love, Pete Harry
