RUN, RUN, REST

Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I WILL GIVE YOU REST. Matthew 11:28

For most folks summer is the perfect time to find a little bit of peace and quiet from the intense pace of our regular day to day lives. Whether it's spending a day on the lake casting a line or two, making your way down to a tropical destination to enjoy the palm trees and a nice breeze, or putting your phone on 'do not disturb' during a staycation—these times are rejuvenating! Sometimes it's hard to come back from the rest we've had because it felt so good and we don't know when we're going to have another time to do it again. I don't know if you feel that way, but I do. It makes me ask the question: why don't I get to rest regularly?

Here are three of the answers that I give myself in regards to why I don't rest and why I shouldn't cling to those ideas.

I don't have time to rest. There's too much to do and not enough time to do it! There's a laundry list of tasks I've gotta get done and I'll rest when I finish the list (oops, guess what, the list never gets completed). The question I've asked myself over the last several months has been 'How would Jesus have handled this list?' Well, he would have gotten as much done as he could, he would have realized that he was tired (why do we ignore this real-life physical state-of-being?), and then he would have gone to rest. He didn't have to go on a week-long vacation. He was able to take some time and simply rest. Look at Matthew 8:24—Suddenly a furious storm came up on the lake, so that the waves swept over the boat. But Jesus was sleeping. What? Jesus was sleeping? He could have been using that time to teach his disciples better theology or healing techniques. Sure, but if you go back and read all of chapter 8 you see that Jesus had been very busy, he even pulled a late night getting rid of demons. Jesus needed to rest.

I don't want to rest. Every now and then I fall into the trap of thinking that I shouldn't want to rest because if I want to rest it's a sign of weakness. And that's a trick the devil plays on us. We think that if we fill our time with things that can keep us busy, we're doing good. I heard this quote from Donna Pickerill and she heard it from a ladies day that happened several years ago, but it stuck with me (if you listen to the Altar Your Algorithm podcast, you may know what I'm about to say). She said, "If the devil can't make you bad, he'll make you busy." Being busy feels good. It makes us feel like we're accomplishing great things. And sometimes we are! But how is the busy-ness affecting us? Is it causing us to miss out on peace? Is it making us a bit more anxious than we should be? Let me remind you, we are created in the image of God, and God rested.

I can't rest. Maybe there are some extenuating circumstances and right now your life is just full. Maybe right now you're dealing with some worries and issues that make it difficult for you to slow down your mind and actually get some physical rest. Maybe the baby is keeping you up at night, maybe you're having to work an extra shift, maybe you can't rest. My favorite passage when talking about rest is Matthew 11:28-30 and it says "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light." Take your burden to him. Rest.

I hope everyone is having a restful summer.
